

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer system for providing prescription drug history information to an insurer is provided. The method includes receiving a history request message and transmitting a number of individual history requests over a communication network to a number of remote computers of pharmacy benefit managers. The method also includes receiving at least one prescription history response generated by accessing a database of prescription history information at one of the remote computers.

10/26/2006 10:26:00